JOHAN CRUIJFF ARENA, AJAX, AMSTERDAM

The Johan Crujfff Arena, home to the legendary Amsterdam Football Club Ajax, is located in the heart of Dutch football culture. The ArenA is a unique architectural masterpiece within our collection. It is one of the smallest models, with the intricate bridges, flyovers, and, of course, the iconic roof being meticulously recreated.

Opened in 1996 in Amsterdam-Zuidoost, this new Ajax stadium marked the end of matches held at another iconic Ajax venue: the Olympic Stadium. The ArenA has a capacity of over 55,000 spectators, making it the largest stadium in the Netherlands. Since its opening in 1996, the stadium has been renowned for its architecture and its first retractable roof in Europe.

The Amsterdam ArenA quickly became an icon of sport and entertainment in Amsterdam. After the passing of the legendary number 14, the Amsterdam ArenA was renamed in 2018 to the Johan Crujfff ArenA, in honor of his extraordinary contribution to international football. One of the highlights of the stadium was the final of Euro 2000, where Didier Decamps for France was finally able to present the Henri Delaunay Cup to Europe.
